

Who's Who of Foreign Attorneys

BY KATIE THISDELL

WE'VE GOT A PROBLEM. We know who the famous and accomplished U.S. lawyers are. Barack and Michelle Obama. Bill and Hillary Clinton. Mitt Romney. Alan Dershowitz. RBG. (She's so famous, we can just use her initials.)

But there's a great big, wide world out there, and lawyers do the remarkable in every corner of it.

What we need is a LinkedIn-kind-of-model of LL.M. graduates to highlight their education and expertise. So guess what we did.

We started one.

We reached out to the nation's law schools and asked them to nominate their more accomplished LL.M. grads from foreign nations. And geez. Our eyes were opened. Talk about a roster of smart, driven, notable people.

There are attorneys who have done work for the United Nations or are working on genocide prevention, and attorneys who are working for local nonprofits and non-government organizations and those who work for international corporations. One even ran for prime minister in Kosovo.

They hail from India, Poland, China, Saudi Arabia ...

They have used their U.S. learning to augment their earlier legal education and put it to good use and then some.

Unfortunately, we only had space to highlight 15 of them. We could have doubled that, easily.

So link up with some of the world's top lawyers.

Guide to LL.M. programs for foreign attorneys

The following are LL.M. programs designed for foreign attorneys. Distance learning LL.M. programs are listed first. On-campus LL.M. programs follow and are divided into four geographic regions and listed alphabetically. An index of LL.M. programs open to foreign attorneys as well as U.S. students completes our package. Tuition, if not listed as yearly or by semester, is per credit hour for non-residents. Please visit www.NationalJurist.com for complete info or to search by practice area.

Northeast 32

South 34

Midwest 36

West 38

Index of LL.M. also open to foreign attorneys 40

Distance Education	Graduate Program Subject	Application Deadline	App. fee	Tuition*
California Western School of Law	Maestría en Derecho con Especialización en Litigación Oral
Florida Coastal School of Law	U.S. Law	Rolling		$765
George Mason University	U.S. Law		$0
Mitchell Hamline School of Law	General	Sp: Dec. 1; Fall: July 15	$0	$16,250/semester
Regent University	American Legal Studies	Fall: Feb. 15; Sp: June 15	$50	$650
Taft Law School	American Jurisprudence	Rolling	$75	$495
University of Miami	Taxation of Cross-Border Investment	Rolling	$50	$1,830
Washington University	U.S. Law		$0

*Tuition Non-Resident Per Credit

MASTER OF LAWS FOR FOREIGN-TRAINED LAWYERS (LLM)

Advance Your Career | STUDY LAW IN THE U.S.

COME EXPLORE TODAY | moritzlaw.osu.edu/llm

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

MORITZ COLLEGE OF LAW

South

Pursue a Master of Laws degree at TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF LAW

- Top-ranking programs in intellectual property, dispute resolution and business law
- In-residence and online options available
- Experience the strength of the Aggie Network

Dallas/Fort Worth Metroplex
1515 Commerce St., Fort Worth 76102

law.tamu.edu/llm

COLLEGE OF LAW

MASTER OF LAWS

FOREIGN-TRAINED LAWYERS

Expand your horizons by earning an LLM with a concentration in an exciting, rapidly growing field.

BAR PREPARATION TRACK
FULL-TIME OR PART-TIME
DUAL CONCENTRATIONS
5+ CONCENTRATIONS

law.gsu.edu/llm

Kristina Haverkamp

Education: LL.M. University of Georgia School of Law. Studied law in Germany and Switzerland.

Experience: Haverkamp is the managing director of the German Energy Agency, dena. She is responsible for international cooperation and for projects related to sustainability in the transport sector, as well as for the financial and administrative matters of the agency. She began her professional career as a consultant in international environmental policy at the German Foreign Office. She has held positions at the Federal Cartel Office, the Federal Ministry for Economic Affairs and the Federal Ministry of Finance in Berlin before joining the Permanent Representation of Germany to the EU as head of the Economics Department.

Antonio Peña

Education: J.D. and LL.M. in Comparative and International Law from SMU Dedman School of Law. Holds two other law degrees from the Mexico and Spain.

Experience: Peña is a shareholder at Greenberg Traurig's Miami office, has extensive experience in the U.S., Spain, and Latin America representing strategic investors and private equity funds in cross-border mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, financings, restructurings and other corporate matters. Peña is the president of the InterAmerican Chapter of the United States-Mexico Chamber of Commerce.